2. Total resources (budget appropriations and exceptional resources) excluding pensions (7,032 million euros).

Explanatory note on the presentation of the French military budget

The figures provided concern the French military budget for 2009, excluding pensions, using a unit of currency and nomenclature requested by the Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe. The following comments are in order:

- (a) The "strategic forces" heading covers allocations for nuclear deterrence;
- (b) The "paramilitary forces" column is not applicable as of 1 January 2009, the date on which authority over the gendarmerie was transferred to the Ministry of the Interior;
- (c) The "military assistance" and "civil defence" headings are not applicable, because the elements needed for the former are not provided in unclassified budget documents, and because the latter is not administered by the Ministry of Defence.

Instrument for standardized international reporting of military expenditures

(Actual outlays, current prices)

Fiscal year: 2008 ending 30 September

National currency and unit of measure: millions of United States dollars in current prices

(The unit of measure should not exceed one ten thousandth of the total military expenditures)

Military expenditures of the United States of America, fiscal year 2008

The military expenditures (actual outlays) are of the individual military departments (Army, Naval, Air Force) and the defence agencies within the Department of Defense, as well as the Department of Energy (for defence nuclear programmes) and the Department of Homeland Security (for defence-related activities). Civil defence expenditures are those for non-defence-related activities from the Department for Homeland Security budget, since fiscal year 2002. (Prior to fiscal year 1995, civil defence expenditures were from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) budget.)

These expenditures are entered for each force group in the United Nations instrument as follows:

Strategic forces (column 1):	These forces do not have a separate service or military department in the United States; therefore, spending data are not readily available for them. All resources for strategic offensive, defensive, and command, control and communications forces are contained in the budgets of the Air Force, Navy and Army.
------------------------------	--

Army forces (column 2):	The budget of the Department of the Army.
-------------------------	---

Navy/Marine forces (column 3):	The budget of the Department of the Navy, including the Navy and Marine Corps.
--------------------------------	--

Air forces (column 4):	The budget of the Department of the Air Force.
------------------------	--

Other combat forces (column 5):	Not applicable – all active and reserve military forces are financed from the above military budgets.
---------------------------------	---

Central support and administration:

Agencies (column 6):	The budgets of defence agencies (Office of the Secretary of Defense, Defense Logistics Agency, Defense Information Systems Agency, Defense Contract Audit Agency, etc), which provide defence-wide support and general administration.
----------------------	--

Other (column 7):	Special defence-wide programmes that do not normally fall under military departments or defence agencies (e.g., environmental restoration, support of World Games, etc).
Paramilitary (column 8):	Not applicable.
Military assistance:
Home (column 9):	Not applicable.
Abroad (column 10):	Includes foreign military financing, economic support fund and other programmes in the category "international security assistance", Budget of the United States Government, Fiscal Year 2010 .
United Nations peacekeeping (column 11):	Includes outlays for support of United Nations peacekeeping forces.
Undistributed (column 12):	Department of Energy: outlays of the National Nuclear Security Administration, environmental and other defence activities. Since fiscal year 2002, also includes Department of Homeland Security outlays for defence-related activities, including Coast Guard, and infrastructure protection and information security.
Civil defence (column 14):	Beginning fiscal year 2002: Department of Homeland Security outlays, excluding defence-related outlays which are included in military expenditures. Prior to 1995: FEMA programmes that received separate funding for civil defence activities. (FEMA did not programme separate funding for civil defence activities from 1995 forward. FEMA was incorporated into the new Department of Homeland Security in 2002.)
